

mobilebeacon®

lights up Central Falls with

FREE WI-FI IN JENKS PARK

Experience FREE wireless Internet access and new HD security cameras being showcased at Jenks Park on September 22nd.

Tell us what you think!
facebook.com/MobileBeacon

Also, stop by our table at the entrance to the park.

FREE WI-FI IN THE PARK

Mobile Beacon is a division of a local RI nonprofit company. We're partnering with the city of Central Falls to make 4G Internet access available to the community.

Experience what blazing fast 4G mobile Internet access feels like by connecting to our hotspots throughout Jenks Park on September 22nd. Bring your laptop, tablet, or smartphone and surf the web, watch a sporting event live, or video chat with a friend – all without stuttering, freezing or wasting time waiting for a signal to catch up.

Stop by and chat!

Mobile Beacon representatives and tech support experts will be available at our tent at the entrance to Jenks Park. We'll answer any questions you have about how 4G mobile Internet access works, how it can enhance safety and security in the community, or how we can add your nonprofit to the ever-expanding Mobile Beacon Nation.

Powering communities, one grant at a time.

Mobile Beacon's technology assistance grants provide nonprofits with 4G mobile Internet technology which enables communities like Central Falls to do more good work, reach more people, and enhance safety and security. See how communities across Mobile Beacon Nation are using our services:

The People's Emergency Center in Philadelphia provides web-based resources to struggling families including information about social services, job search tools, and other educational opportunities.

Salado Public Library in Texas created a loaner program where patrons can "check out" 4G hotspots to complete digital literacy training remotely.

Glendale Volunteer Ambulance Corps, Inc. in New York uses our service to communicate with dispatchers and access real time information in emergency situations.

The Anchorage School District in Alaska set up a loaner laptop program so disadvantaged or at-risk students can take online courses at night and after work.

About Mobile Beacon

Mobile Beacon is a pioneer in offering fourth generation (4G) mobile broadband services exclusively to nonprofit and educational organizations across the United States. We are part of a 501(c)3 nonprofit company with more than 20 years of experience as one of the largest national educational broadband service (EBS) providers in the country. Through an agreement with Clearwire, Mobile Beacon now provides high-speed data services and mobile Internet access to qualified nonprofits including:

- 4G mobile Internet access – the same advanced 4G network that industry leaders like Sprint and Clearwire use.
- Affordable service – unlimited data plans for dramatically subsidized rate of $10/month paid annually in advance.
- Wireless devices – a range of user-friendly products to keep you connected in the office or on the go.
- Increased security – with up to four security cameras operated over our 4G service to foster a safer community.

The result: you save time and money so you can focus more resources on your mission and extend those benefits to the community.

